INTRODUCTION.

Hadji Ephraim Benguiat, the owner of the collection here described, is the descendant of an illustrious Spanish Jewish family which traces its origin as far back as the beginning of the eleventh century. Many members of the family have distinguished themselves in Biblical and rabbinical learning, in philosophy and letters. The love for religious art has been a tradition in the family, and many of the objects of the collection are family heirlooms.

The collection comprises all the important objects which come into use in Jewish religious life, and is unique for its artistic and historical value.

I. OBJECTS USED IN THE SERVICE OF THE SYNAGOGUE.

1. TORAH SCROLL.—Parchment scroll of the Pentateuch in Hebrew mounted on wooden rollers, wrapped in a cloth of green velvet embroidered in silk, which is held by a silver-worked belt and covered with a mantle of black velvet embroidered in gold. The upper handles of the rollers are of carved wood, the lower of ivory, with silver bells on the rollers. The scroll was made in Smyrna, Asia Minor, in the eighteenth century. The bells were manufactured in Damascus and bear the inscription: "Joseph, son of Ephraim Benguiat." Height of scroll, 7 inches; of rollers, 14 inches. (Plate 1, fig. 1, and Plate 7. U.S.N.M., No. 154606.)

The Pentateuch, called by the Jews Torah, i. e., the Law (properly instruction), is considered by them the most important and sacred portion of the Scriptures. In order to keep it alive in the minds of the people, it is divided into pericopes<sup>1</sup> according to the number of Sabbaths, the whole to be read through during service in the synagogue within a year.<sup>2</sup> For this purpose a manuscript copy of the Pentateuch is used. The copy is written by a professional scribe (sopher) on parchment made of the skin of a clean animal (one whose flesh may be eaten), in Hebrew, without vowel points, accents, or verse divisions, in certain stated columns. The sheets are fastened together with sinews of a clean animal so as to form a scroll, and mounted on wooden rollers. When not in use the scroll is covered with a robe of costly stuff and, when the congregation can afford it, adorned with silver or gold bells and breastplate.<sup>3</sup>

2. WRAPPER FOR THE TORAH SCROLL.—Made of yellow silk, embroidered with flowers and Hebrew inscription in silver, gold, and silk, with silver lace fringes. The inscription reads: "And it brought forth buds, and bloomed blossoms, and yielded almonds."<sup>4</sup> Embroidered as a holy work by the hands of Magdalene Bassan in the year 5496" (1736). Measurements, 11 feet 1 inch long, 6½ inches wide. (Plate 2, fig. 1. U.S.N.M. No. 154603.)

3. WRAPPER FOR THE TORAH SCROLL.—Made of green silk, embroidered with flowers and Hebrew inscription in silk. The inscription reads: "This holy cover was made by Simha, wife of Levy Hai, of Buttrio [Italy], in the year 5457 [1697], and was purchased by Phineas Veneziani and brothers." Measurements, 8 feet 1½ inches long, 7¾ inches wide. (Plate 2, fig. 2. U.S.N.M. No. 154604.)

4. SILVER BAND (fragment).—Inscribed in Hebrew: "David, King of Israel, lives and is established forever." Perhaps part of an ornament of the Torah scroll. Measurements, 7½ inches long, ⅜ inch wide. (U.S.N.M. No. 1291.)

5. VEIL OF THE HOLY ARK (Purocheth).—Made in Padua, in 1736, of yellow silk and richly embroidered in silver, gold, and silk, with flowers, and the first words of the Decalogue (Ten Commandments) borne upon clouds—the symbol of the Deity. Measurements, 6 feet 3 inches long, 5 feet 2 inches wide. (Plate 3, U.S.N.M. No. 154602.)

<sup>1</sup>Such a weekly pericope is called by the German Jews (Ashkenazim) sidra, or "order;" by the Portuguese Jews (Sefardim) parasha, division, section. This latter term is applied by the Ashkenazim to the shorter divisions into which the sidra is divided.

<sup>2</sup>Many modern Jewish congregations have adopted a triennial cycle, which was also known in ancient times.

The Torah scroll when not in use is kept standing upright in a press or wall closet placed slightly above the floor of the nave and reached by steps. As the Torah is in the eyes of the Jew the most sacred and precious object, so is the closet which holds it the most important part of the synagogue. It is called "Holy Ark" (aron ha kodesh), after the Ark of the Covenant in the Tabernacle and Temple, whose place it has taken. The Holy Ark is set in or against that wall of the synagogue toward which the worshipers turn in the more solemn parts of the liturgy, the wall which is in the direction of Jerusalem. Whenever the Holy Ark is opened, the congregation rises in reverence for the Law of God it holds. Before the Ark is a curtain of costly material, which is named parocheth<sup>1</sup> after the curtain which in the Tabernacle and the Temple screened the Holy of Holies.

6. VEIL OF THE HOLY ARK.—Made in Smyrna, Asia Minor, of blue silk and richly embroidered in gold, with the inscription in Hebrew, "Portuguese congregation." Measurements, 6 feet 3 inches long, 4 feet wide. (Plate 4, U.S.N.M. No. 154588.)

7. VEIL OF THE HOLY ARK.—Made, probably in Asia Minor, of yellow silk with silver-lace borders embroidered with flowers in silk, with silver appliqué work representing vases of flowers supported by columns on either side and a synagogue in the center. A Hebrew inscription in gold appliqué indicates that the veil was dedicated by Benjamin, Modico, and Solomon Nabaro to the congregation "Talmud Torah" (Study of the Law). Measurements, 5 feet 10 inches long, 5 feet 3½ inches wide. (Plate 5, U.S.N.M. No. 1286.)

8. COVER FOR THE READING DESK.—Made of yellow silk and embroidered with flowers in silver and silk. Measurements, 4 by 3 feet. (Plates 6 and 7, U.S.N.M. No. 154806.) When the time arrives for the reading of the Torah, which is about the middle of the service, the scroll is taken out of the Holy Ark and carried in procession, the congregation standing, to the bima (from the Greek βήμα) or almemer (corrupted from the Arabic al-minbar, pulpit). This is a table or desk standing upon a raised platform, upon which the scroll is unrolled (Plate 6). This table or desk is covered with a costly cloth similar to the curtain of the Holy Ark.

9. SILVER POINTER (yad).—Made in Morocco in the seventeenth century. Length, 11½ inches. (Plate 1, fig. 2, U.S.N.M. No. 158347.) The pointer, usually terminating in the shape of a hand, hence called yad (hand), is used at the public reading of the Torah to guide the reader (ba'al qoré) of the lesson and prevent him from losing the place in the scroll.

10. SILVER POINTER.—Length, 11½ inches. (Plate 1, fig. 3, U.S.N.M. No. 154808.)

11. ROLL OF THE BOOK OF ESTHER.—Parchment scroll inserted in a revolving silver case, with marginal illuminations illustrating the events narrated in the book. Written in Venice, Italy, in the seventeenth century. The silver case was once in possession of the Jews of Granada, Spain. Height of scroll, 8 inches. (Plate 8, fig. 1, U.S.N.M. No. 154592.)

Five of the shorter books of the Bible—Canticles, Ruth, Ecclesiastes, Lamentations, and Esther—are called the “Five Rolls” (hamesh megillot), and are read on special occasions during the service in the synagogue, viz, Canticles on Passover, Ruth on Pentecost or Feast of Weeks, Ecclesiastes on Tabernacles, Lamentations on the 9th of Ab, and Esther on the Feast of Purim. The first three are read privately by each member from his own copy during a pause in the public service (between the first part of the liturgy and the reading of the Torah). The Lamentations are chanted by the leader and members of the congregation, each reading a chapter, during the services of the 9th of Ab (August) in commemoration of the destruction of the Temple of Jerusalem. Still more ceremony is attached to the reading of the Book of Esther, which takes place during the services of the Feast of Purim, which is celebrated on the 15th of Adar (March–April) to commemorate the deliverance of the Jews of Persia from the machinations of Haman. For this purpose a parchment scroll, written in the same manner as the Pentateuch (see under 1) is used. The reading takes place from the same desk as that of the Torah, and is preceded and followed by a benediction. At certain passages the congregation joins in, reciting them before the public reader. The Book of Esther is therefore known as the roll (Megillah).

12. ROLL OF THE BOOK OF ESTHER.—Parchment scroll inserted in a revolving silver case. Written in Smyrna, Asia Minor, in the eighteenth century. The case was once in possession of the Jews of Granada, Spain. Height of scroll, 8 inches. (Plate 8, fig. 2. U.S.N.M. No. 154592<sup>b</sup>.)

13. ROLL OF THE BOOK OF ESTHER.—Written in columns of eight lines and about 1 inch wide, on a scroll of vellum seven-eighths of an inch wide, and inserted in a hexagonal revolving silver case, surmounted by a cupola, from which rises a crescent and star, the emblem of the Mohammedan peoples. Height of case, 1½ inches; diameter, 1 inch. Made in Fez, Morocco. (Plate 8, fig. 3. U.S.N.M. No. 158347.)

14. RAM'S HORN (shofar).—(Plate 9, fig. 1. U.S.N.M. No. 154589.) In ancient times the horn or shofar was used, according to the Pentateuch, for the announcement of the New Moon and solemn festivals,<sup>1</sup> for the proclamation of the year of release (Sabbatical year),<sup>2</sup> and above all for military purposes, like the modern bugle, to give the signal for going out to battle, for the announcement of a victory, and for a recall of the troops.<sup>1</sup> It was also used as a musical instrument in religious processions.<sup>2</sup>

At present the shofar is especially used during the penitential season, which begins with the 1st of the month Ellul (August-September) and culminates on the Day of Atonement (yom kippur) on the 10th of Tishri (September-October). During the month of Ellul the shofar is sounded three times at the close of the morning service each day, with the exception of the Sabbaths, in some congregations and in others at the evening service. On the 1st of Tishri, the beginning of the civil year (rosh ha-shana), one of the most solemn of the Jewish feasts, and the "memorial of blowing of trumpets,"<sup>3</sup> thirty blasts, among the Sefardim seventy-two, are sounded on the shofar in the middle of the morning service, after the reading of the day's lesson from the Torah, and before the "additional service" (musaf). On Atonement Day the shofar is sounded once, among the Sefardim four times, at the close of the concluding service (ne'ilah), and on the seventh day of Tabernacles (Hosha'na Rabba) it is sounded at each of the seven circuits. The shofar is usually made of a ram's horn, but the goat's horn is also employed.<sup>4</sup>

15. HANUKAH LAMP.—Made of brass. Height,  $7\frac{1}{2}$  inches; width at base,  $6\frac{1}{4}$  inches. (Plate 9, fig. 2, U.S.N.M. No. 154591.)

The feast of dedication or Hanukah (the latest addition to the cycle of Jewish festivals) is celebrated for eight days, beginning with the 25th of Kislew (December-January), in commemoration of the purification of the temple and the restoration of the service after the deliverance of Jerusalem from the oppressions of Antiochus Epiphanes, King of Syria, by the Maccabees in 164 B. C. The institution of this festival is related in I Maccabees iv, 47-59. In the New Testament<sup>5</sup> it is mentioned under the name of ἐγκαίνια (enkainia), "dedication." The principal feature in the observance of this festival is the lighting of lights in the synagogue, as well as in private houses, whence it is also called the "feast of lights."<sup>6</sup>

On the first night one light is lit, on the second two, and so on to the eighth. The lights are set in a place where people on the street may see them, in the window or by the door. They are considered sacred, and must not be employed for any ordinary purpose. For this reason a "servant light" (shammash) is placed next to them, which is used in lighting them. Rabbinical tradition accounts for this feature of the feast by the story that when the priests entered the sanctuary, after the Syrians had been driven out, to light the perpetual lamp they found a vial of sacred oil unpolluted, which under ordinary circumstances was only sufficient for one night, but by a miracle lasted for eight nights.

When possible, lamps burning olive oil are to be used, though frequently candles made of pure beeswax are employed. In the synagogues there is usually for this purpose a lamp made after the form of the candlestick (menorah) of the tabernacle and temple, as described in Exodus xxv, 31-40.<sup>1</sup>

16. PAIR OF CANDLESTICKS.—Silver repoussé work. Measurements, 12½ inches high, 6¼ inches wide at the base. (U.S.N.M. No. 1287.) The candlesticks come from a church in the Philippine Islands. Mr. Benguiat is of the opinion that they originally belonged to a Jewish synagogue in Spain, which was converted into a Christian church after the expulsion of the Jews from that country and found their way to the Philippines.

II. OBJECTS USED AT PRAYER.

17. MINIATURE PRAYER BOOK.—Containing all the prayers and devotions used on week days and on special festal occasions, in the synagogue and at home. Printed at Amsterdam, Holland, in the year 5499 (1739). Bound in leather, with silver clasps, with the name of "Ephraim Benguiat" in Hebrew characters impressed on the left cover. (Plate 10, fig. 1, U.S.N.M. No. 154581.)

18. MANUSCRIPT CONTAINING THE FORMULAS USED FOR THE ABSOLUTION FROM VOWS HASTILY OR UNCONSCIOUSLY MADE, AND PRAYERS RECITED AT THE CEMETERY, AND ON THE EVE OF NEW YEAR'S AND ATONEMENT DAY.—Written in Hebrew square characters in black ink with the rubrics in red. Bound in leather with pressed covers and red edge. Measurements, 7 by 5 inches. (U.S.N.M. No. 1294.)

19. MANUSCRIPT CONTAINING THE PSALMS AND VARIOUS PROPITIATORY PRAYERS.—Written in a quaint, Arabizing cursive script by Abraham Zarfati at Asmir in the year 5522 A. M. (1762 A. D.). The Psalter, besides contributing extensively to the synagogical liturgy, constitutes in itself a prayer book of the Jews. It is recited in part or in its entirety by pious Jews as a means of prayer and devotion. Measurements, 6 inches long, 4 inches wide, ¾ inch thick. (Plate 12, U.S.N.M. No. 1293.)

werp in 5338 A. M. (1573 A. D.). The Hebrew text is unpointed. Bound in leather, with gilt edge. Measurements, 7 inches long,  $4\frac{3}{4}$  inches wide, and 1 inch thick. (U.S.N.M. No. 1292.)

21. PHYLACTERIES (tefillin).—(Plate 10, fig. 2, and Plate 11, fig. 1, U.S.N.M. No. 154583.) The phylacteries, or tefillin, are two square boxes of parchment. The boxes are fastened to a kind of a base made of thick parchment with a loop on one side, so as to let a narrow leather strap pass through (Plate 10, fig. 1). Into these boxes are inserted the following passages from the Pentateuch, written on strips of parchment: Exodus xiii, 1-10; Exodus xiii, 11-16; Deuteronomy vi, 4-9, and Deuteronomy xi, 13-21. By means of the straps the boxes are bound around the arm and head and worn by all male Jews who have attained religious majority—i. e., passed the thirteenth year of age—during morning prayers of week days; hence their Hebrew name tefillin, from tefillah, prayer. The name phylacteries is derived from the Greek φυλακτήρια (phylacteria), which is used in the New Testament,<sup>1</sup> meaning, properly, things that guard—i. e., amulets, talismans, which the Jewish tefillin are not. The New Testament name may be based upon an external resemblance between the tefillin and the Greek phylacteria. The obligation to wear tefillin is derived from the command included in the extracts mentioned above: “And you shall bind them as a sign upon your hand and for frontlets between your eyes.”<sup>2</sup>

The tefilla for the head is embossed on two sides of the exterior with the Hebrew letter  $\text{ש}$  shin (sh), and inside is divided into four compartments, in each of which one of the four extracts from the Pentateuch is put, and the strap is tied at such a distance as to fit the head of the wearer, forming a knot shaped in the form of the Hebrew  $\text{ד}$  daleth (d). The tefilla for the hand or arm has no letter impressed on the outside and no divisions inside, and the four passages it contains are written continuously on one strip of parchment. One end of the strap is made into a small noose, with a knot resembling the Hebrew  $\text{י}$  yod (y or i). The three letters thus exhibited on the outside of the tefillin constitute the Hebrew name of God  $\text{יהו}$  Shaddai, rendered by the English versions: “Almighty.”<sup>3</sup> The materials used in making the tefillin must come from a clean animal, and the extracts from the Pentateuch are written in the same manner as the Torah scroll. (See under I, 1.)

In “laying the tefillin” (hanohath tefillin) that of the arm is put on first. The box is fastened on the naked left arm above the elbow, and the strap is wound seven times around the arm below the elbow. Then that of the head is put on so that the box comes to rest on the forehead below the hair and between the eyes, the knot being at the root of the neck, while the ends of the strap pass over the shoulders and hang down on either side. Next, the end of the strap of the tefilla of the arm is wound thrice around the middle finger and around the hand. Each of these performances is accompanied by appropriate benedictions and the recitation of passages from the Scriptures. In taking off the tefillin that of the head is removed first, then that of the arm. The straps are folded around the bases (Plate 10, fig. 2), and the tefillin are reverently put into a bag, which is sometimes included in another, so that the sacred objects may be more carefully protected.<sup>1</sup>

22. INNER BAG OF TEFILLIN.—Made of silk and embroidered. Made at Chalcis (island of Euboea, Greece), in the seventeenth century, and found there after the Jews had departed for the battle of Athens in 1822. (Plate 10, fig. 3. U.S.N.M. No. 154582.)

23. BAG OF TEFILLIN.—Made of velvet in Morocco. (Plate 11, fig. 2. U.S.N.M. No. 154580.)

24. PRAYER SHAWL (tallith).—Made of white brocade silk, with gold-embroidered edges. Length, 6 feet; width, 1 foot 5 inches. (Plate 13. U.S.N.M. No. 154588<sup>b</sup>.)

The tallith is a rectangular piece of cloth, made of wool or silk, worn by male adults (among the Sefardim, or the observers of the Portuguese rite, also by small boys) at the morning services and when performing certain religious functions. To each of the four corners of the tallith are attached the ציצית or fringes, consisting of four threads (usually woolen) run through an eyelet near the corner and then doubled and knotted in a certain manner, so that eight threads are allowed to hang down as a fringe. It is, besides, usually bordered with bluish-black stripes and adorned with a silk ribbon or silver-corded lace called "crown" (atarah) on the top. The tallith is loosely thrown over all the other garments, sometimes passing across the top of the head and flowing down over the upper part of each arm and over the back, sometimes wrapped around the neck. The obligation to wear a garment with fringes is derived from Numbers xv, 38: "That they make their fringes in the borders of their garments throughout their generations, and that they put upon the fringe of each border a cord of blue, and it shall be unto you for a fringe, that you may look upon it and remember all the commandments of the Lord, and do them. And that you go not about after your own heart and your own eyes;" and Deuteronomy xxii, 12: "Thou shalt make thee fringes upon the four borders of thy vesture, wherewith thou coverest thyself." Besides the tallith, which is worn at stated seasons, the Jews wear at present under the upper garments during the entire day a garment with fringes, called the "small tallith" (tallith katan), or the "four corners"

(arba kanfoth). It consists of a piece of rectangular cloth of any material, but usually of wool, about 3 feet long and 1 foot wide, with fringes fastened to the four corners in the same manner as to the tallith, with an aperture in the center sufficient to let it pass over the head, so that part falls in front and part behind. This small tallith is assumed to have originated in the times of persecution, when the Jews had to refrain from exhibiting the garment with fringes and could only in this manner comply with the commandment to wear fringes.

III. OBJECTS USED ON FESTAL OCCASIONS AT THE JEWISH HOME.

(a) SABBATH.

25. CUP AND SAUCER USED FOR KIDDUSH.—Made of cut glass, gilded. Measurements: Cup, height  $1\frac{1}{4}$  inches, diameters 2 and  $1\frac{1}{2}$  inches; saucer, height 1 inch, diameter  $4\frac{1}{2}$  inches. (Plate 14, figs. 1 and 2. U.S.N.M. No. 154585.)

The Jews, like other Oriental peoples, compute the day from sunset to sunset. The Sabbath, therefore, begins at sunset on Friday and terminates at sunset on Saturday.

It is inaugurated in the home by blessing and lighting of the candles by the mistress of the house,<sup>1</sup> and in the synagogue by a special service. On returning from the service, and before the evening meal, the head of the house fills a cup with wine, raises it in his right hand, and recites Genesis ii, 1 and 2, which relate the origin of the Sabbath, and pronounces a benediction over the wine to God, who "has sanctified the Sabbath." For this reason the ceremony is called kiddush, i. e., sanctification. He then drinks from the cup and hands it to the other persons at the table to partake of. Where no wine or other liquor is available, the kiddush is pronounced over two loaves of bread, which are laid on the table in memory, it is assumed, of the two portions of manna that were gathered in the wilderness on Fridays. The loaves are then cut up by the head of the house, the pieces dipped in salt and distributed among the members of the family.

26. SPICE BOTTLE, USED FOR HABDALAH.—Made of china, with neck of oxidized silver. Measurements:  $4\frac{1}{4}$  inches high,  $1\frac{3}{8}$  inches in diameter. (Plate 14, fig. 3. U.S.N.M. No. 154587.)

27. SILVER CANDLESTICK, USED FOR HABDALAH.—The base is in the form of a leaf,  $2\frac{3}{4}$  inches long and  $2\frac{1}{2}$  inches wide; height of the candlestick, 1 inch, with an extinguisher. (Plate 14, fig. 4. U.S.N.M. No. 154586.)

The Sabbath is inaugurated at the home by a benediction over a cup of wine (see under 25) and is terminated in a like manner. In addition to the cup a wax candle and a box containing some spices are used.

The head of the house takes the cup in his right hand and the spice box in his left, while the candle is usually held by a child, and, after reciting several passages of the Scriptures, pronounces a blessing over the wine, then over the spices, smelling them and passing them to the others present, then over the light, closing with thanksgiving to God for the distinction He made between Sabbath and workdays, between things sacred and profane, etc. The cup is then passed around among the members of the family and the candle extinguished with drops of wine from the cup. This ceremony is called the habdalah, i. e., separation or division, because it divides or separates the Sabbath from the other days of the week.

(b) PASSOVER.

The feast of Passover is celebrated in commemoration of the deliverance of Israel from the bondage of Egypt, as related in the first chapters of the book of Exodus. It begins on the evening of the 14th of Nisan (March-April) and continues, with the Jews who live in Palestine, for seven days, with those in other places for eight days. It is the first of the three pilgrimage festivals (the two others being the feast of the weeks, or Shabuoth, and the feast of the Tabernacles, or Sukkoth)<sup>1</sup> and begins the ecclesiastical year.<sup>2</sup>

In ancient times the celebration of Passover centered around the Paschal lamb. As it could not be slaughtered outside of the sanctuary<sup>3</sup> its use ceased with the destruction of the Temple, and the eating of unleavened bread, or maççoth, is now the principal feature of the Passover feast. The eating or even the keeping of anything leavened or fermented (hameç) is strictly prohibited,<sup>4</sup> hence the Passover is also called the "feast of unleavened bread."<sup>5</sup> On the evening preceding Passover the ceremony of "searching for leaven" (bediqath hameç) takes place. The head of the house, furnished with a candle, a wooden spoon, and a feather brush, goes over the whole house and gathers all suspicious crumbs into the spoon. This is burned on the morning of the 14th of Nisan in the courtyard (bi'ur hameç). In the evening the feast begins with a service in the synagogue. In the home the evening meal is of the nature of a commemoration service, called Seder—order, arrangement, or program. At the head of the table are cushioned chairs or lounges for the master and mistress of the house to recline on, as was done and is still customary in the Orient among the high and freeborn. On the table are the articles emblematic of the events commemorated. These are: Three maççoth, or cakes of unleavened bread, baked in the shape of large, thin, round crackers, the "bread of affliction",<sup>1</sup> a piece of roasted meat, usually the bone of a lamb, representing the Passover lamb; bitter herbs, usually horse-radish (maror), in commemoration of the "embittering of life" which Israel suffered in Egyptian servitude;<sup>2</sup> a roasted egg, in memory of the festal sacrifice (hagigah) offered in the Temple; a compound of almond, apples, and sirup, which has the color of brickelay (haroseth), in commemoration of the labor of brickmaking the Israelites performed in Egypt<sup>3</sup> and into which the bitter herbs are dipped before they are partaken of; green herbs—parsley or lettuce (karpas)—as the "food of poverty;" a cup with salt water, in which the green herbs are dipped to represent the hyssop dipped in the blood of the Paschal lamb.<sup>4</sup> There are, besides, wine and cups or glasses for each at the table, as everyone assisting at the celebration is supposed to partake of four cups of wine.

The service begins with kiddush, as on Sabbath and other festivals.<sup>5</sup> The family then sits down and the hagadah, i. e., narration, consisting of an account of the sufferings of Israel at the hands of the Egyptians and their miraculous deliverance by God, accompanied by psalms and hymns, is recited. At appropriate passages of the hagadah the articles mentioned above are partaken of, symbolical ceremonies performed, and the evening meal is eaten.

28. TWO CUSHIONS, USED TO LEAN UPON AT THE PASSOVER MEAL, OR SEDER.—Made of green silk and richly embroidered in gold and silk, in Samacov, Bulgaria, in the sixteenth century. Length, 19 inches; width, 16 $\frac{3}{4}$  inches. (Plate 15. U.S.N.M. No. 154600.)

29. EWER AND BASIN, USED FOR THE ABLUTION AT THE PASSOVER MEAL, OR SEDER.—Brass repoussé and chased work. Height of ewer, 13 inches; diameter of base, 7 inches; height of basin, 4 $\frac{3}{4}$  inches; diameter, 14 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches. (Plate 16. U.S.N.M. No. 155178.) Washing of the hands (netilath yadayim) by pouring water over them is observed by the Jews before prayer and before meals, sometimes also before saying grace after meals. The custom is also referred to in the New Testament.<sup>6</sup>

30. PASSOVER DISH.—Used at the Passover meal, or Seder, to hold the maggoth and the other symbolical articles of the service. Made by the Jews of Spain in the thirteenth century, glazed in Italy in the sixteenth century. On its surface are painted the benediction of kiddush and the sixteen words containing the program of the ceremonies performed during the Seder, and four vignettes representing the family in the various stages of the service. Height, 3 $\frac{1}{4}$  inches; diameter, 18 $\frac{3}{4}$  inches. (Plate 17. U.S.N.M. No. 154594.)

31. COVER FOR THE UNLEAVENED BREAD, OR maççoth, USED AT THE PASSOVER MEAL, OR SEDER.—Linen, embroidered in silk. Made in Chalcis (Eubœa), Greece, in the seventeenth century. Measurements,  $16\frac{1}{2}$  by 15 inches. (Plate 18. U.S.N.M. No. 154599.)

32. BRASS DISH, USED FOR HOLDING THE GREEN HERBS AT THE PASSOVER MEAL, OR SEDER.—Chased work. Made in Venice, Italy, in the fifteenth century. Height,  $3\frac{1}{4}$  inches; diameter,  $17\frac{1}{2}$  inches. (Plate 19. U.S.N.M. No. 154595.)

33. COVER FOR THE GREEN HERBS, USED AT THE PASSOVER MEAL, OR SEDER.—Purple-colored silk, embroidered in silver and gold. Made in Chios (an island off the coast of Asia Minor) in the eighteenth century. Measurements, 21 by 19 inches. (Plate 20. U.S.N.M. No. 154597.)

34. TWELVE WINE GLASSES.—Used for the drinking of the "four cups" (arba' kosoth) at the Passover meal, or Seder. Cut glass with gilded rims, and engraved with scenes from human life (the two glasses on the plate, for instance, represent a woman at the loom and a sailing vessel, the others being a woman spinning; a rural idyl; a harvesting scene; a country homestead; a landscape; a chariot race; a house with its inhabitants; a hunting scene). Made in the seventeenth century. Height of each glass,  $4\frac{1}{4}$  inches; diameter,  $1\frac{2}{3}$  inches. (Plate 21, fig. 1. U.S.N.M. No. 154593.)

35. ANTIQUE CHINA CUP.—Used for the salt water at the Passover meal, or Seder. Height,  $1\frac{1}{8}$  inches; diameter,  $2\frac{1}{2}$  inches. (Plate 21, fig. 2. U.S.N.M. No. 154618.)

36. ENAMELED SAUCER AND SILVER SPOON.—Used for the compound of almonds, apples, and other fruit, or haroseth, at the Passover meal, or Seder. Height of saucer, seven-eighths inch; diameter,  $4\frac{1}{2}$  inches; length of spoon,  $5\frac{1}{2}$  inches. (Plate 21, figs. 3. U.S.N.M. No. 154596.)

37. GLASS AND PLATE.—Used for the counting of the ten plagues inflicted on the Egyptians, at the Passover meal, or Seder. Height of glass,  $6\frac{1}{2}$  inches; diameters,  $5\frac{1}{8}$  and  $3\frac{5}{8}$  inches; height of plate, 1 inch; diameter,  $8\frac{1}{2}$  inches. (Plate 22. U.S.N.M. No. 1290.) During the reciting of the account of the deliverance from Egyptian servitude in the liturgy of the Seder, or hagadah, at the mention of the ten plagues sent against the Egyptians<sup>1</sup> a drop of wine is poured out from a glass into a plate at the mention of each plague, or sometimes is dipped out with the finger.

38. PIECE OF BROCADE.—Used as a tablecloth at the Passover meal, or Seder. Measurements, 3 feet  $10\frac{1}{2}$  inches by 1 foot  $6\frac{1}{2}$  inches. (Plate 23. U.S.N.M. No. 154596<sup>b</sup>.)

(C) TABERNACLES.

41. CURTAIN FOR THE BOOTH OR TENT (SUKKAH) OF THE FEAST OF TABERNACLES.—Made of linen and silk, with gold threads in the edge, by the Beduins of Jerusalem in the eighteenth century. Length, 10 feet 2 inches; width, 6 feet 4 inches. (Plate 26. U.S.N.M. No. 154590.)

42. CURTAIN TIE.—Linen with edges embroidered in gold and silk. Made by the Jews of Smyrna, Asia Minor, in the seventeenth century. Length, 8 feet; width, 8½ inches. (Plate 27. U.S.N.M. No. 154617.)

The Feast of Tabernacles takes place on the 15th of Tishri (September-October), and continues, according to Leviticus xxiii, 39-43, seven days, with an eighth day for the conclusion of the feast, to which is added the feast of the "Rejoicing of the Law," thus extending it to nine days. It is celebrated in remembrance of the wandering of the Israelites through the desert where they dwelt in booths or tents<sup>1</sup>. In ancient times the feast was coincident with the harvest season and was a feast of thanksgiving.<sup>2</sup> It was one of the most important and joyous of the three pilgrimage festivals. The most characteristic feature of the celebration of this feast is the dwelling in booths or tents, whence is derived its Hebrew name, Sukkoth, or more fully hag ha-sukkoth, the feast of booths. The booth has three sides of wood, usually boards or planks, while the fourth side, on which is the entrance, is hung with a curtain. It must be erected in the open air and covered with green branches and leaves, affording protection against the sun by day, but permitting a small portion of the sky to be seen and the stars to show at night. Inside it is usually adorned with draperies and garlands. Being the "dwelling place"<sup>3</sup> during the festival, the meals are taken in the booth and especially pious people even sleep in it. Sick and feeble people, however, are exempt from the obligation of "dwelling in tents," and the precept is generally suspended in inclement weather. Another of the important ceremonies connected with the observance of the Feast of Tabernacles is the use of palm branches (lulab), bound up with myrtle and willow branches, and a kind of citron (ethrog), for which see the Report of the U. S. National Museum for 1896, page 996.

IV. OBJECTS USED ON SPECIAL OCCASIONS.

43. WRAPPER USED ON THE OCCASION OF CARRYING A CHILD TO SYNAGOGUE.—Linen with embroidered inscription in Hebrew reading: "Jacob, surnamed Kapel, son of Naphthali Shalita, surnamed Hirsh Heller, born Wednesday, the 15th of Shebat (January–February) 5604 (1844). May the Lord let him grow up to the study of the Torah, to marriage and good works. Amen. Selah." Made in France. Length, 9 feet 4 inches; width, 6 inches. (Plate 28. U.S.N.M. No. 154605.)

Among some Jews it is the custom when a child is brought for the first time to the synagogue that the father takes it to the desk, where the lesson from the Law is read during service, and presents a wrapper for the Torah scroll.

44. MARRIAGE CONTRACT (kethubah).—Written on parchment in the so-called Rashi or Rabbinical script with gilded initials and decorated borders. Height, 12 inches; width, 18½ inches. Dated Haskeuy, Constantinople, the 7th of Tishri (September–October) 5361 A. M. (1601 A. D.). The contracting parties are Solomon Medinah and Mercada, daughter of Moses Firmon. Marriage is usually preceded by an engagement or betrothal, on which occasion it is customary among some Jews to draw up a formal writ of agreement between the bride and groom, whence the ceremony is called tenaim, "articles of agreement." The marriage ceremony takes place under a canopy (huppah) of silk, or velvet about two yards square, supported by four poles. The bride and bridegroom are led under it by their parents and friends. The rabbi, or anyone competent to perform the ceremony, takes a cup of wine, and after pronouncing an appropriate blessing, gives it to the bride and bridegroom to taste. The bridegroom then places a ring on the finger of the bride with the words: "Behold thou art wedded to me by this ring, according to the law of Moses and Israel." This act, which is called sanctification (kiddushin) in itself makes the marriage valid. Then the marriage contract is read. This is written in Aramaic after an established form. It states that the bridegroom agrees to take the bride as his lawful wife, and that he will keep, maintain, honor, and cherish her, etc., and also specifies the sum he settles upon her in case of his death. After that the bridegroom crushes an empty glass with his foot in remembrance of the destruction of Jerusalem.<sup>1</sup> The rabbi, or whosoever performs the ceremony, takes another cup of wine, pronounces over it seven benedictions, and hands it again to the bride and bridegroom, who taste it, and the ceremony is then concluded.

45. MARRIAGE CONTRACT.—Written on parchment. The margins are richly decorated; of the writing only a few traces are left, which, however, exhibit fine workmanship. Height, 20¼ inches; width, 18¼ inches.<sup>2</sup>

V. MISCELLANEOUS.

46. MEZUZAH.—The mezuzah consists of the passages Deuteronomy vi. 4-9, and xi. 13-21, written on parchment in the same manner as the Torah scroll and the phylacteries<sup>1</sup> and inserted in a wooden or metal case or glass tube. On the outer side is written the Hebrew name of God, Shaddai, "Almighty," and a small opening is left in the case opposite this word. The case is fastened in a slanting position to the right-hand side of the doorpost, in compliance with the words: "And thou shalt write them (the words of the Lord) on the doorposts of thy house and within thy gates."<sup>2</sup> Pious Jews touch and kiss the mezuzah as they pass through the door. Some Jews in the Orient nail to the doorway the entire Decalogue inclosed in a tin case. The custom has been widely adopted by other peoples of the East, particularly by Mohammedans, who write passages from the Koran over the doors and windows of their homes. (Plate 29, fig. 1, mezuzah inclosed in a quill; fig. 2, mezuzah in a tin case; fig. 3, mezuzah in a glass tube; fig. 4, mezuzah unfolded. U.S.N.M. No. 154584.)

47. AMULET OF PARCHMENT.—Written for Hadji Ephraim Benguiat when he was sick in childhood. Length, 9 $\frac{1}{4}$  inches; width, 1 $\frac{3}{4}$  inches. (Plate 29, fig. 5, U.S.N.M. No. 154611.)

Amulets are charms, or preservatives against evil spirits, witchcraft, the evil eye, or disease. They are made of stone, metals, animal products, etc., in fact of any substance. The most common consists of words, characters, or sentences ranged in a particular order and written on parchment, or engraved upon wood, stone, or metal, and worn about the neck or some other part of the body. Amulets are found in use among nearly all peoples and religions of ancient and modern times.

48. SILVER MEDALLION, USED PROBABLY AS AN AMULET.—Filigree work. On one side is, in gilt relief, the Hebrew name of God, Shaddai, ("Almighty"), on the other the figure called "Shield of David" (magen David) with a fleur-de-lis inside. Height, 2 $\frac{5}{8}$  inches; width 1 $\frac{1}{4}$  inches. (Plate 28, fig. 6. U.S.N.M. No. 154613.)

49. TWO SILVER RINGS, USED AS AMULETS.—Engraved with the name of the owner: "Ephraim Benguiat," and kabbalistic words. Diameter, three-fourths inch.

50. SILVER MEDAL.—Struck in commemoration of the edict of Emperor Francis Joseph I of February 18, 1860, granting the Israelites of his Empire the right to own real estate. On the obverse are in relief, to the right, a crowned female figure holding a scroll inscribed in Hebrew, "One people and one nation;" to the left, the figure of a boy holding in his right hand a wreath, in his left a palm branch. Between the figures are, above, two tablets inscribed in Hebrew, "One law for us all;" beneath, the bust of the Emperor and the double eagle of the imperial standard. The margin and bottom of the medal have appropriate German legends, expressive of the gratitude of the Israelites. The reverse is inscribed with the paragraphs of the edict bearing on the subject. Diameter,  $2\frac{1}{8}$  inches; thickness, one-fourth inch.

51. SILVER COIN.—On the obverse is, in relief, a seated female figure laying her right hand in blessing upon the head of a boy standing in front of her. The margin is inscribed with part of the Aaronitic blessing in German, "The Lord bless thee and keep thee,"<sup>1</sup> while the chair on which the female figure is seated is adorned with the monogram of Christ ( $\text{X}$ ). At the bottom is the name "Abramson." On the reverse is, on the top, the name of God, "Jehovah," in Hebrew characters, with rays of the sun going out from it, surrounded by the inscription in German, "Light and truth." It may have originated with some Kabbalistic sect and have been used as a talisman. Diameter,  $1\frac{3}{4}$  inches.

52. SCRIPTURAL MOTTO.—Made of red silk and embroidered in gold, with the Hebrew passages, "Let thy garments be always white, and let not thy head lack ointment,"<sup>2</sup> and, "I will dwell in thy tabernacle forever; I will take refuge in the covert of thy wings. Selah."<sup>3</sup> Made in Smyrna, Asia Minor, at the beginning of the nineteenth century. Length,  $27\frac{1}{2}$  inches; width,  $7\frac{1}{2}$  inches.
