THE U. S. FISH COMMISSION EXHIBITION.

Although interesting work is now being done in Washington in preparing the great collective display of the U. S. Government for the Paris Exposition, there is one point in its work which deserves mention for the interest it will call to the public, and that is the preparation of the U. S. Fish Commission display in the United States Building. Mr. William C. Collins, the representative of the U. S. Fish Commission, has the charge of it, and his work will be of the greatest importance to that commission. The work of the commission is being done in a splendid manner, and it is to be expected that it will be the first of its kind that will be made. As boats and vessels were the basis from which the fisheries were developed, Captain Collins has undertaken the responsibility of making a display which will be a model of simplicity and grace, as well as an exhibition of the latest inventions of the works.

There are also full-sized models of the Atlantic salmon, which is peculiar to the United States, and the salmon of the Pacific, which is peculiar to the United States.

The salmon is represented by two models, one of which is a full-sized model of the Atlantic salmon, and the other is a full-sized model of the salmon of the Pacific.
