

SEMINAR NEWS

There will be two luncheon seminars this week on Tuesday, Aug. 26. The first will be given at noon by PHILIP DEVRIES from the University of Texas at Austin on:

Ecological Aspects of Ant Association and Host Plant Use by a Riordini Butterfly.

The second talk will be given at 2:00 pm by MADHAV GADGIL from the Indian Institute of Science. His subject:

Adaptive Significance of the Indian Caste System: an Ecological Perspective.

There will be a cold luncheon offered in the interval between the two seminars.

REQUESTS FOR SEMINARS

If anyone wishes to give a seminar during the month of September, we encourage you to sign-up since there have been no reservations made yet for that month.

ARRIVALS & DEPARTURES

STEVE PATON, from Vancouver Canada, arrived on August 15 to assist with the statistical analysis of data from the Iguana Management Project. He will be here for three months.

JUDITH CONNOR, from Hopkins Marine Station, is here for ten days to continue her periodic algal survey of the Galeta reef-flat. This is part of the oil spill follow-up studies. Milton Clark will be assisting her during this time.
